SIX-SHOOTER PARTY HITS CHARITY BULLSEYE

Calgary, Alberta – July 7, 2010 – The Calgary office of Stikeman Elliott will wrap up their Kids Inn Play charity campaign with a live auction at their annual Six-Shooter Stampede party.

Stikeman Elliott's Kids Inn Play program is in collaboration with Inn from the Cold, an organization which provides emergency shelter, support and programs for homeless children and their families. The Kids Inn Play program engages the children at Inn from the Cold in safe and fun activities by providing funding and supplies for recreation opportunities throughout the year. Launched in April, the program has included a number of events to raise funds and awareness.

Olympic gold medallist Jon Montgomery will auction off a variety of entertainment packages at Six-Shooter Saturday, which each include an associated donation to Inn from the Cold.

Lou Cusano, Calgary Managing Partner: "We wanted this year's Six-Shooter charity component to be a significant part of our Stampede celebration. We created the Kids Inn Play program with Inn from the Cold out of a recognition that every child deserves the right and the opportunity to play – and we are proud to help make that happen."

This is the fifth year for Stikeman Elliott's Six-Shooter Stampede Party. The 2010 event will welcome over 500 guests, as well as musical entertainment Hey Romeo, Charlie Major and Doc Walker.
